POLITICAL POT BOILING

Candidates are Now Getting Busy.

HARMONY WATCHWORD

In the Ranks of the Democratic Party.

Republicans Face Perplexing Problems Which Threaten Any Time to Disrupt the Ranks.

The time for nominating candidates for the various city offices is drawing near and the closer it gets the more interest is there attached to the contests for the different places. More than ordinary importance will be attached to the election of city solicitor, board of public service members and city councilmen, owing to the fact that it is generally believed these officials will be called upon to decide exceptionally weighty questions during their term of office. Just what these questions are to be will probably be made known during the campaign and will be issues in the election.

While the Democratic candidates are not displaying their ambitions before the public as glaringly as are the Republicans, it is known that there will be plenty of activity when the time for the convention arrives. The democrats are not faced with the perplexing problems which now threaten at any moment to disrupt the ranks of the local republicans and the prospects are that democracy this year will place before the people one of the strongest tickets got together in many years. The city convention, which will take place Wednesday evening, September 4, is looked forward to as a meeting notable for harmony and good feeling.

Mayor Louis Scherff is certain of renomination for his second term, and in view of his brilliant and consistent record in office, republicans and democrats alike there is little doubt of his re-election.

William P. Moloney, one of the most capable young attorneys of the city, is after the nomination for city solicitor, and so far as is known has no opposition. There is a possibility, however, of Patrick Monahan and John Hemminger of entering the race. For city auditor, Harry S. Elliot, a reporter for the Daily Mirror, is the only man who has been mentioned so far as a likely opponent of City Auditor Quigley, who will be renominated by the republicans.

P. R. Salter, Thomas Mead and J. C. Anthony are three well known citizens who have been mentioned for the board of public service.

For representative, M. B. Chase, John E. Dutton and William Smith have announced themselves and it is stated that Charles Criswell, brother of the late representative, may seek the democratic nomination. The only republican candidates for the mayoralty nomination, at least the only ones who have announced themselves, are H. E. Carpenter and S. H. Keller, both of whom have been in the field for several months. R. J. Pennell, who was counted upon as the Citizens' league candidate, has seemingly dropped out of the running. It is reported, however, that there is a probability of his looming up at the last moment as a dark horse.

For solicitor there are several well known republican attorneys at sword's points, and it is expected that the contest for this nomination will be one of the most interesting features of the primaries to take place next Friday evening. Those seeking the nomination are L. E. Myers, Elmer T. Boyd, Fred W. Warner and H. Edmund Hill. All are making a thorough canvass for votes.

There is a plentitude of aspirants for membership on the board of public service. The republicans who have announced themselves are B. P. Blair, H. T. Ireland, Thomas Mason, Fred Iselieb, Harry C. Krume, and O. A. Bussard.

M. E. Dickerson is after another term as republican member of the board of education and he is being opposed by Dr. D. O. Weeks and George L. Sauer. All three are generally regarded as strong candidates. Truman C. Lewis is the only republican who has made formal announcement of his candidacy for representative, but it is known that T. D. Emery and S. E. DeWolfe will be after the nomination.

MARRIED IN MICHIGAN

Elopement Successfully Carried Out.

PARENTS OF THE BRIDE

Were Not of a Forgiving Nature.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Rider are "Kicked Out" by Papa Freeman on Their Return Home.

The marriage of Mr. W. Rider, a rural mail carrier and Miss Vera Freeman which occurred at Detroit a week ago last Monday, and which was published in the Mirror at that time is interwoven with a pretty little romance that is worth the telling.

A week ago last Sunday Rider and Miss Freeman, who is the daughter of a prominent farmer south of the city, spent the day at the home of friends. That night without returning home they drove to this city and putting their horse in a livery stable, they boarded a train for Detroit. They were married Monday morning and returned home that evening expecting parental blessings. A message had been sent in advance to the bride's parents but it failed to come through on account of the strike so when the elopers arrived they had to break the news themselves.

At the residence of Lyman Rider, the father of the groom, they were received with open arms, but not so at the home of the bride. They were admitted but when the parents found that they were married, they refused to have anything to do with them. In the words of the groom, they were let in but almost as quickly they were "kicked" out. The bride pleaded but in vain so the happy couple decided that they could get along without the blessings for the time being.

Rider in driving daily over his route often met and talked with pretty Vera Freeman. They became fast friends and the friendship soon ripened into love. Then they wanted to marry, but the parents refused permission and as Vera is only seventeen years old, they were apparently up against it. But as is always the case proverbial cupid found a way and the flying trip to Detroit was planned and carried out successfully.

After the first of next week, Mr. and Mrs. Rider will, be at home to their friends at 200 Pleasant street, where the groom has provided a pretty dwelling for his bride.

Little Chap Had No Great Faith in His Father's Powers.

The little chap who was dancing up and down beside his mother at the ball game showed an unusual knowledge of the game for a boy so small, and he attracted the attention of every one around. "I guess he'll walk," he'd say judiciously when three balls had been called, and the crowd listened with wonder at such talk from a boy of only six. "Safe, safe," he'd yell, before any of the men around him could open their mouths, and the crowd's wonder increased, until it developed that he was the son of one of the players on the opposing team.

"Which man is his father?" every one wondered, when the little fellow yelled suddenly as a man went in to bat: "There, there he is, mamma; now watch pop strike out." In vain his mother tried to hush him, but the little man continued to shout knowingly: "Now watch pop strike out." The crowd watched eagerly and as "one strike" and then "two strikes" were called, it laughed uproariously, while mamma's face grew redder and redder. When the third strike was called the little chap's voice rang out triumphantly: "I knew pop would strike out," and while the crowd howled with glee mamma discovered it was time to take her son home.

Regular Hornet's Nest Stirred up
by Traction Company Near Columbus.

The hornet's nest stirred up by the Columbus, Delaware & Marion road, in raising the fares between North Columbus and the county line, just before fair week, grows apace. The members of the Worthington council will have a meeting Monday night, at which, it is said, some of the best legal talent in the city will be present and will take up the question of the franchises of the road. In the meantime, the citizens of Clintonville and North Broadway have been active, and have not only consulted attorneys, but have visited the courthouse as well.

Letters are being sent along the line to farmers and others who will come to the city during fair week to take the steam roads to Columbus. A mass meeting of all the property owners and others who use the road probably will be called as soon as the reports of the committees now investigating of the advance are made. —Ohio State Journal.
